

ENERGY TRANSITION & CLIMATE PROGRAM

Overview

The Energy Transition & Climate Program at the Inter-American Dialogue promotes a just energy transitions and catalyzes climate action in the Western Hemisphere.

By convening experts, policymakers, corporate leaders, and civil society to share balanced, innovative, action-oriented analysis, and best practices, the program aims to enhance energy security and action on the climate crisis in line with the objectives and timeline of the Paris Agreement and Sustainable Development Goals.

The Program advances a robust agenda of analysis and events throughout the hemisphere on issues including:

Promoting the path to a just energy transition in the Americas

- Renewable energies and energy efficiency
- Critical minerals & natural resource governance
- Net-Zero strategies

Leading climate action in the Americas

- Mitigation, adaptation, & resilience
- Climate Negotiation and NDCs
- Carbon pricing

Addressing the role of international relations, geopolitics, and trade in energy and climate

- US – Latin America energy and climate diplomacy
- Nearshoring, integration, and trade

Featured Projects

- Unlocking Latin America's Energy Potential: A Regional Push for Integration and Sustainability
- Building Foundations: Rule of Law and Regulation for Energy Transitions in Latin America and the Caribbean
- Transforming Energy, Empowering Women: A Gender-Focused Approach to Latin America's Energy Future

Annual Latin American Energy Conference

This conference explores modes of accelerating the energy transition, net-zero strategies in the private sector, and geopolitical events impacting the regional energy sector.

The Energy & Resources Committee

The Committee is a specialized platform for discussions with senior policymakers and industry leaders. Members shape and amplify innovative and forward-thinking solutions to energy and climate challenges through public and private events, as well as analysis and opinion pieces in Dialogue publications. Committee members provide annual support for the work of the Program.

Committee members:

- Share industry innovations and challenges through public events, private sessions, research, and publications.
- Participate in private and public meetings with government and business leaders, along with other experts in Washington, DC and throughout Latin America.
- Speak at public and private events, including the Dialogue's flagship annual Latin America Energy Conference.
- Receive access to private meetings and collaborate as co-authors on research reports.
- Committee members are recognized as generous supporters of the Dialogue's work, and are featured prominently in related materials.

Alfonso Blanco
Program Director
ablanca@thedialogue.org

Michael Kerns
Program Assistant
mkerns@thedialogue.org

The Dialogue is a hemispheric organization that builds networks of cooperation and action to advance democratic resilience, shared prosperity, social inclusion, and sustainable development across the Americas. We impact policy debates, devise solutions, and enhance collaboration to unlock meaningful change in the Western Hemisphere.